

June 24, 2020

A Creative Approach to Construction and Real Estate Conflicts – Benefits of a Multi-Practice Flat-Fee Approach

The world has changed in the past four months, and with it, we've seen drastic changes in the real estate and construction industries. What pitfalls lie ahead for your real estate or construction business? What are your options for responding to project delays or cancellations, contract disputes, payment problems, or lien filings, and enforcing or defending your rights in a bankruptcy or receivership case?

This webinar discusses the types of construction and real estate disputes that may arise in this new business landscape and the benefits of approaching these conflicts with a multi-practice legal strategy and creative tactics to reduce tensions, save money, and avoid legal claims. The Michael Best team covers issues affecting both owner/developers and contractors/design professionals and demonstrate how corporate, real estate, construction, and debtor-creditor lawyers, and even public relations specialists, can help you navigate the most challenging conflicts. The current business climate is making it more likely that contractors and owners may encounter contentious issues, and this presentation will highlight the advantages of a flat-fee multi-practice approach to analysis and strategy to help you address these conflicts head-on.

Events Details

Date:

Wednesday, June 24, 2020

Time (Central):

11:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m.

Location:

Complimentary Live Webinar

Related Practices

Construction Law

Project Development & Financing

Real Estate

Webinar Resources

- Presentation Recording
- Presentation Slides

Related People

Michelle Ebben

Partner

mwebben@michaelbest.com

T 414.225.8277

Vincent Morrone

Senior Associate

vmorrone@michaelbest.com

T 414.277.3477

Christopher Schreiber

Partner

cjschreiber@michaelbest.com

T 414.225.8284

Lauren Triebenbach

Partner

latriebenbach@michaelbest.com

T 414.225.4929

Roy Wagner

Partner

rewagner@michaelbest.com

T 414.270.2707