

David E. Cline

Associate

Overview

DC counsels clients on a wide range of corporate and transactional matters. He focuses on counseling high-growth companies and investment entities in a variety of industries on mergers & acquisitions, raising or investing capital, structuring and restructuring, governance, and succession and intergenerational planning.

DC enjoys working with entrepreneurs and has been one himself previously, having co-founded multiple ventures over the years. He brings his experience and understanding of being in the shoes of a co-founder to his practical counsel with clients. DC is also a frequently-requested speaker at entrepreneurial events.

Experience

Representative matters include:

- Advised an investment fund on its initial formation and offering.
- Advised a family office in the formation of a special purpose investment fund for a pooled investment opportunity to its clients.
- Served as lead attorney advising a technology company in a Series A investment round.
- Advised clients on early stage financing, including equity and debt (non-convertible and convertible instruments) angel and institutional capital as well as accelerator program capital and participation.
- Advised multiple sell-side clients in private equity roll up transactions.
- Advised a technology client in a reverse triangular merger with a strategic partner.
- Advised early stage ventures on entity and domicile selection, redomiciling, and restructuring to accept investment.
